Just spoke to C/Super Pardy,

He is hoping for a decision from his Legal this evening and We will be discussing with ours, so perhaps a conversation this evening to level set where we are at?

7 pm perhaps ? So that we have direction for the nights going out and can draft something for tomorrow dayshift briefing.

We will be losing the Provincial order at 1700hrs.

This will be challenging.

Subject to others' opinions I do not believe it changes our posture. We are still able to rely upon them under the CC to prevent the continuation of the offence.

We were using them to ensure that people had a lawful purpose to enter the area and were not going in to aid and abet or commit mischief.

I defer to Christiane's big brain, but this is what came from our call with Partners this afternoon.

Apparently, there will be an immediate revocation.....

See below....are there any lines we can use?

Two questions we will need for tomorrow...

What were we using it for?

What happens to the checkpoints now?

Here's a statement – (note that your questions are not necessarily answered. Also, not sure when it will go or if it's final.)

Will update when I have more info.

Revocation of the Emergencies Act

On February XX, 2022, the declaration of a public order emergency under the Emergencies Act was revoked.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) remains committed to working with our law enforcement partners to ensure the safety and security of Canadians.

The Integrated Command Centre comprising the Ottawa Police Service, the Ontario Provincial Police and the RCMP will remain activated for an indeterminate amount of time, furthering the collaborative efforts that have taken place to date.

The RCMP will continue to actively and closely follow the situation related to the various illegal protest activities across Canada, keep a constant state of preparedness and have scalable resources available if needed. The revocation of the public order emergency takes nothing away from our resolve to effectively enforce the law and keep communities safe.
